HIS PAPA'S POLITICS.

"What are your papa's politics, Miss Merry?" asked the beau. The maiden eyed the clock and yawned. "Why do you wish to know?"

"Because," the little fellow grinned, "He'll like me don't you see? If I find out his party views And then vote as he does."

"Well, that's the blood prevention," Mary laughed, "like all you men— For he declared he'd bolt the door To-night at half-past ten."

"Why, then he is a traitor, May, A mugwump ha, ha, ha! He's kicked the party traces off— I'm solid with your pa."

"O, then will he the party, boy," May answered, with a sough, "Called every night—like some he you: Pa had to kick him off."

"And now his name is on the list," She said, the fact almost to cheer; "For he is an awful kicker."

And then the lover blushed "good night," With rather doubtful pride, And thought the use of politics For him was cast aside.

THE ARTFUL CANVASSER.

A Hint for Book-Tried Men Who Travel with Books.

I went straight to the minister's house, on reaching Sleepyville (said a canvasser for a religious weekly). Never think of going anywhere else first, my boy, if you are canvassing for a religious paper.

The minister was a nice fellow, and I booked him early in the day. He pressed me to stay to supper. It was warm, the minister was entertaining, his quarters comfortable, so I stayed.

After supper the minister had to go to prayer meeting. He asked me to go along. It was not my cue to refuse. I went.

After there had been some praying done and a hymn had been sung, the minister rose and looking at me said:

"We will now ask Brother ——," naming me, "to lead in prayer."

I thought mighty quick for about ten seconds; my thinking flywheel flew around. It was a question of policy I was debating in that interval. Then I said:

"For a reason which I shall be very glad to explain after the meeting is over, I must beg to be excused from leading the prayer."

The pastor accepted my declination gracefully and called upon somebody else. After the meeting was over I went up to the minister and said:

"The reason I did not accept your kind invitation to lead in prayer was that I was afraid my motives might be misunderstood. You see, my business is to obtain subscriptions for a certain religious paper. If I had led in prayer some members of your congregation would have been sure to have suspected me of trying to advertise my papers in church. Neither I nor my employers would tolerate such a suspicion for a moment."

The minister was profuse in his praise of my straightforward methods. I think he must have said something about the matter to his congregation, for, with hardly an exception they subscribed for the paper.

Verily, virtue is its own reward.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Poor Teaching.

Uncle Gibson, who is a power among the people on his plantation, is dissatisfied with the colored school teacher.

Upon my asking him the reason of his dissatisfaction, he said:

"La! bless you, sah, dis teacher 's a no-account teacher, nohow. My Grant he went to de las' teacher we had three weeks ago, and got a very good edgercation. But my Sis said Tip have 'bleeze to dis one two days and day ain't 'Pressed dair lef bum."

GOODS FROM THE CHEAPEST STORE.

How People Buy Supplies Where They Have Them to Themselves.

This is the way they do business at the "down yonder store, where they have plenty of time for it. The system has not yet gone into effect in the large dry-goods emporiums of the cities. Old lady in pink "alat" sunbonnet and a gown made of five and a quarter yards of calico, enters, adjusts her glasses and looks at the three pieces of gingham on the shelf.

"Anything I can show you to-day, Mrs. Skinner?" asked the proprietor coming forward with his mouth full of pickles and cheese.

"I dunno," says Mrs. Skinner.

"Just a fine lot o' gingham just in."

"I dunno but I might look at 'em. No charge for that, I reckon?"

"Oh, no, of course not. Now, here's a mighty fine piece of green and red plaid."

"I dunno as I like plaid."

"Well, now, here's a green and white check."

"Well, now, that's a green and white piece."

"I've so many green and white ginghams, I thought I'd like something different this time."

"They're mighty good colors, Mrs. Skinner."

"I've an idee the plaid'll run in washin'."

"What! Gingham like that run? That gingham'll wear longer than a rag of it, and never fade."

"I ain't so sure o' that."

"Chaw a piece and see. No'm; that gingham'll bile like muslin. Don't you see it says 'fast colors' on the label?"

"Aw, that don't count for nothin' nowadays. How much is it?"

"Twenty-five cents a yard."

"How much?"

"Twenty-five cents."

"For gingham like that?"

"Yes'm, an' cheap at that."

"My land! I've bought better gingham a-many an' a-many a time for a shillin'."

"It wasn't such gingham as this."

"It was a leetle better if anything."

"I guess you mistaken. This gingham cost me twenty-four cents."

"Then you got dreadfully cheated."

"It'd be a bargain at thirty cents."

"Pshaw, man, you crazy? Now, lookee here, Sam Peters, I'll give you twenty cents a yard for that gingham, and it's all I will give."

"Can't do it, Mrs. Skinner. Say twenty-three cents and I'll do it, but I'll lose money."

"Twenty's all I'll give."

"I'll split the difference and say twenty-two and a half."

"'Taint worth it, Sam."

"It's worth two bits."

"Pshaw!"

"'Deed it is."

"I kin git better gingham for fifteen cents in town."

"Not much, you can't."

"I know I kin."

"I'll give you nineteen cents for all you can git for twenty cents good as this."

"I'll give you twenty-one cents if you'll throw in a card o' hooks and eyes."

"Can't do it."

"Well, say a spool o' thread."

"I'm losin' money as it is."

"Law, Sam, I'll bet you make ten cents a yard on that gingham. You kin put in a card o' buttons, anyhow."

"I'll say six buttons."

"Why can't you make it a dozen?"

"Oh, I'm losin' money now."

"How you talk!"

"It's so!"

"Well, gimme a yard an' the six buttons an' a stick o' pep'mint candy for the baby. But I'm gittin' cheated. Take your pay in sign, won't you?"

"No, I couldn't."

"Ain't sign same ez money?"

"No'm."

"Well, you storekeepers do beat all at makin', a bargain. You don't leave a body a foot to stand on."—Detroit Free Press.

SUPERFICIAL ACQUIREMENTS.

Some Practical Suggestions for Parents.

The boy or girl who can give the name of every river and the height of every mountain in Asia, the age of every reigning sovereign in Europe, the date of every battle in America, can hardly be as well off for all this burdensome knowledge as one who knows the elements of human physiology and anatomy, who is taught more of the knowledge useful in after life, and can tell how to help himself or another in case of accident or emergency.

The boy who is to go into active life and the girl who is to become head of a household, will have little occasion and less opportunity to use the greater part of the "crammed" lessons so industriously accumulated during their school years.

A fair knowledge of the rules that are at the bottom of all healthful activity, a general acquaintance with anatomy and a well-grounded taste for natural sciences, will all grow into and become part of their daily lives, and such things are far less likely to make pretentious men or women than that kind of smattering "memorized" facts and dates and "words" which is too often the penalty of superficial study.

CORRECTING AMERICAN HISTORY.

Establishing a New Date for the Battle of Trenton.

Mr. Andrew Quinton, of Trenton, New Jersey, asserts that the date on the Washington monument, Baltimore, fixing the battle of Trenton as having been fought on December 25, 1776, is incorrect. He says the battle took place on the day following, December 26. Mr. Quintin thinks the date should be changed on the monument so as to read "Battle of Trenton, December 26." Bancroft in his "History of the United States," Lossing in his "Field Book of the Revolution," Carrington in his "Battles of the American Revolution," Bryant in his "Popular History of the United States," and Boom in his "History of New Jersey," all agree that the battle of Trenton was fought on the morning of December 26, 1776.

The American troops started to cross the Delaware on the morning of December 25, but it was 3 o'clock the next morning when they landed on the opposite shore. It was about 8 o'clock when the action began.

One Way To Raise His Shadow.

"Yes," said Quiggles, "I have a good deal on my hands just now."

"So I perceive," replied Pogg; "why don't you try a little soap and water?"—Boston Transcript.

THE RESURRECTION FLOWER.

The Wonderful Plant That Travelers See on the Banks of the Historic Nile.

Travelers in Egypt, who profess to have seen the genuine resurrection flower, describe it as a little ball hanging on its fragile stem, and resembling both in color and shape a shrunken poppy head. Sleeping, but not dead, the flower is aroused by being for an instant immersed in water, and then supported in an upright position.

Soon the upper fibres begin to stir. Slowly, yet visibly, they unfold until, with petals thrown back in an equidistant order, it assumes the appearance of a beautifully radiated, starry flower, not unlike some of the asters in form. Resting a moment, it suddenly, as though inspired by some new impulse, throws its very heart to the daylight, curving back its petals further still, and disclosing [illegible] of seven in the loveliness of the first [illegible].

[illegible] through over the [illegible] of the vernal life hangs some ruthless power forcing it back into darkness; before an hour has passed its newly found vigor is fading away. The pulsing light at its heart grows fainter and fainter—slowly the petals relax themselves, to drop wearily side by side upon its bosom—and finally, its tension vanished, its strength exhausted, it hangs heavy and brown upon its stem, waiting for the touch that alone can waken it again.

The story of the resurrection flower, as given in 1836 by the late Dr. Deck, the naturalist, is as follows:

"While traveling on a professional tour in Upper Egypt eight years before, engaged in exploring for some lost emerald and copper mines, he chanced to render medical service to an Arab attached to his party. In gratitude the child of the desert formally presented to him this now-called 'resurrection flower,' at the same time enjoining him never to part with it. Like the fabled gift of the Egyptian, it was supposed to have 'magic in the web of it.'"

The Doctor was solemnly assured by the Arab and others of his race that it had been taken ten years before from the breast of an Egyptian mummy, a high priestess, and was deemed a great variety; that it would never decay if properly cared for; that its possession through life would tend to revive hope in adversity.

For years the Doctor carried his treasure with him everywhere, prizing it for its intrinsic qualities, and invariably awakening the deepest interest whenever he chanced to display its wondrous powers. During the remainder of his life, it is claimed, he caused the flower to open many times, without causing any diminution of its marvelous property or any injury whatever to it.—London News.

MAKING HORSESHOE NAILS.

Something About the Manner These Articles Are Prepared for the Market.

The great bulk of horseshoe nails that are used throughout the United States, are principally made in Cleveland, Ohio, although some few come from Rhode Island.

Horseshoe nails are now made by machinery entirely. They are hammered hot from head to point by a succession of blows similar to those made by hand. The machines are capable of turning out 300 pounds per day, and any pattern which may be required can be shaped.

The nailer can take Swedish iron rods from a small portable furnace and thrust them two at a time into the machine, which runs at 1,600 revolutions a minute, and quickly shows them dropping out into blanks, properly bent and shaped in a style surpassing any hand-made horseshoe nails ever manufactured. From the forging machine the blanks are taken, when cold, to the finishing machines, which draws the blank out, compresses it and points the nail ready to drive.

The nails when finished are packed neatly in boxes containing from 500 to 5,000, and are usually sold to the farrier at 60 cents per pound of 100 nails.

The invention of such new labor saving devices are in striking contrast to the time when horseshoe nails were forged by hand and straightened by the farrier before being fit for use. In those days the nails used to bring about 1½ cents a piece.

THE TEST SHE PROPOSED.

Imposing a Hard Condition on an Importunate Lover.

"Yes, darling," he said in tones of deep tenderness, "I would do anything to show my love for you."

"Ah!" sighed the gentle maiden, "that's what all men say when they are striving to win a woman's heart."

"Put me to the proof," he exclaimed, in wild, passionate tones, "put me to the proof, test me and see if I fail. Set me any task within the bounds of possibility and it shall be performed."

"Ah!" she murmured, "if I could only believe you!"

"Put me to the test. Say to me, do this or do that, and it shall be done."

"Then I will put you to the test."

"Ah," he exclaimed, exultingly, "you shall see the height, the depth, the length, the breadth, the circumference of my love!—What is the test?"

The maiden dropped her snowy lids until the silken lashes rested on the peach bloom of her cheek, a slight smile dimpled the corners of her mouth, and bending over the youth who knelt at her feet she whispered:

"Marry some other girl!"—Boston Courier.

The Best Broom.

The best broom is of light green color, which indicates that the material is of the best flexibility and toughness. The cheap broom corn is of a sickly yellow or lemon color. Manufacturers who use only the green splints assert that the manufacturers of the yellow splints give them a green bath, and that the coloring matter has paris green in it, so that when the housewife takes a splint to try her cake she may be putting a deadly poison in it. The men who make this dye, however, say that it is a harmless vegetable compound.—Good Housekeeping.

Where He Was Deficient.

"Yes, sir," said White, "experience makes fools wise."

"Think so?" said Black; "then you've never had any experience."—Boston Courier.

WILL IT BE INDORSED?

On Saturday last, at the hour appointed, 11:30 A. M., the Mills bill was called up in the House by Mills and, after a couple of amendments and a speech by Mills the bill was put upon its final passage, and passed by a vote of 162 to 142. Sowden, of Pennsylvania, and Bliss and Greenman, of New York, Democrats, voted against the bill, and Fitch, of New York, and Nelson, of Minnesota, Republicans, voted for its passage. California was misrepresented by Thompson and Biggs, who voted for the bill.

Now it goes to the Senate, which branch it will never pass in its present shape, but the Democracy are now fairly before the country as the friends of foreign manufacturers, and enemies of home industries.—The people of California are vitally interested in the provisions of this bill, and our own county of Mono is to-day filled with a class of men whose great wool industry would be terribly crippled if the Mills bill should unfortunately become a law.

Wool is placed on the free list, consequently Australia can flood this State with that most important article of commerce and manufactures and cripple an industry which has become so important in California. With the consequent decrease in the tariff rate on woolen manufactures our woolen mills will be compelled to close through the influx of the manufactured goods of England which would be placed on our soil, for a time, at least, at prices calculated to drive out all American competition until the foreign manufacturer could see that he could put up prices to suit himself, and then the American people will see where the "benefits of Free Trade" come in. Then they will see no full suits of clothes for men in the store windows of San Francisco for $9 a suit—and the material warranted "all wool." But the Mills, Carlisle's, Becks, Morrisons, Breckenridges and Clevelands of the Democratic party do not wear such clothes; but they can under the Mills bill obtain their English-made dude suits at lower prices than now, while the middle and laboring classes will be obliged to pay higher prices than are at present asked for suits fit for any American sovereign to wear.

Our fruit industries will also be crippled if this bill should be passed. Raisins are given a black eye by a reduction in the Tariff from 2 cents to 1½ cents a pound. The raisins of California, under our present Protective Tariff, are fast driving out the imported raisins, but this year's crop of Spanish raisins is so immense, the foreign article, under the Mills bill, can be rushed into the United States at prices that would necessitate the raisin grape growers of California to pull up their vines, and try something else. Figs, another California industry, which is fast coming to the front, has a set back in this bill by being on the "Free List." While the crippling of one branch of trade might not be very ruinous to the prosperity and happiness of a community, the closing up of a number of factories, or the crippling of prominent industries, would be soon felt—and such will be the result of the passage of the Mills bill.

The people of the Northern States are the most interested in having this bill defeated. Mr. Mills has introduced his bill in the interest of the Southern States, and he has carefully looked after their interests. Articles that are not manufactured or raised in that section of our Union, and articles that are in much demand in that section, are considerately placed on the "free list," while the manufactures and industries of the South are protected; but the latter are limited in the Southern States, consequently the people of the Northern States will be the greatest sufferers.

The question of "Free Trade" versus "Protection" is now squarely before the American people, and it is for them to say whether they will indorse the Mills bill by re-electing Cleveland, or condemn it, and thereby protect American Industries by electing Harrison and Morton.

Our Democratic friends point to the present prosperity of the country as evidence of the wisdom of the Cleveland Administration. As this great prosperity is the result of the protective influence of a Republican Protective Tariff, why should the wage-earners of the United States vote for Cleveland who, at the close of his term, desires to destroy this great and beneficent influence, which, if consummated, would throw thousands out of employment and beggar their families.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Personal.

Wm. Loose and family, formerly of this place, returned on Saturday last from Oregon, of which State they have had sufficient. They started on Sunday for Inyo county.

District Attorney Virden left here on Sunday last for San Francisco as a delegate to the Republican State Convention.

Rev. Father Dillon, of Bodie, was here on Thursday.

Rev. Mr. Leak has gone to Carson to meet Rev. J. Whittaker.

Sam. A. Hopkins and family, Charles Leavitt, of this town, and their uncle, C. M. Reed and Miss Mary Reed, of Corning, N. Y., are camping in Buckeye Canyon.

C. A. Schuman, M. J. Cody, Dr. Walker and J. B. Viera, of Bodie, were in camp at Buckeye Springs, having a jolly time. All were in town to-day, and went on to Bodie, accompanied by D. E. Jones, of Vernon.

P. E. Van Loan has returned and has charge of Turner's Bridgeport Stables, in Turner's absence.

Supervisor Hector has been very sick and is not well enough to attend the Republican State Convention.

ANTELOPE VALLEY.—The farmers of Antelope Valley are paying more attention to the raising of fine horses than heretofore. There are several fine stallions in the Valley, Jos. Carney having one, L. Gullickson two, one a fine bay, and Homer Barnett has a splendid two-year old Gibraltar, which will be a fine acquisition to the Valley in time. They find it costs no more to raise a fine horse, than it will to raise a "scrub," but there is a great diff rence when a sale is made; a few $150 horses will pay off the "mortgage" so much quicker than a like number of $30 "plugs." And there is no finer place in the State to raise good horses than Antelope Valley.—The climate is not severe and horses can run till quite late in the Fall, if not all Winter, and find good feed. Had the old residents who sold out on account of the "Oregon craze" and migrated to the Web foot country staid on their little farms in Antelope and gave their attention to fine horses, they would now all be rich, and have finer homes than Oregon can furnish.

All are busy cutting and getting in their hay. Crops are generally good. Todkill's apple orchard is looking well, although the late cold snaps in the Spring diminished his crop, which will not be as large as that of two years ago.

The Antelope school, Miss Addie Marsh, teacher, will open on August 15th for the Fall and Winter Term.

The sale of the Goodnow property on the 9th was the most satisfactory public sale ever made in this county. The ranch was bid in by Kirman & Rickey for $5,800 and the personal property sold high—many articles far above their value. This was particularly the case with cows and horses.

Mrs. Jos. Carney and J. M. Harney, who have been seriously ill, are much better.

Ex-Supervisor Morris Dick, who has the Oregon fever bad, will start for that rainy country in a day or two with his family.

AFTER MANY YEARS.—Volumes might be written of the many surprises and re-unions that have occurred since the California boom set in—of the meeting of friends and schoolmates after years of separation. A few days ago, C. M. Reed, of Corning, N. Y., who, after a separation of 34 years, is here visiting his sister, Mrs. Judge Leavitt, was comparing notes with our townsman, A. F. Bryant, and discovered they had been schoolmates at the "Hub"; the same Boston pedagogue had placed them both across his knee and applied wholesome discipline. It was a pleasant surprise, and the "young fellows" have spent many pleasant hours over Boston reminiscences. After they had finished their "edication" they drifted far apart, Reed going West, where his youthful ardor caused him to join the army at Fort Snelling, from which he went to the front and served through the Mexican War, which gave us California, and enabled young Bryant to "seek for gold" and become a California Pioneer. After Peace had spread her wings over the country again Reed assisted in running the boundary line between Texas and Mexico, and remained in that section some nine years, after which he returned East, married and brought up a large family of Republicans, who will assist him in carrying New York for Harrison and Morton. Mr. Reed and daughter will tarry in Bridgeport about a month, and then visit California proper before returning East.

NEW CITIZENS.—Judge Hakes, on Tuesday, admitted to citizenship L. Lavin, a native of Germany, on the testimony of G. H. Bump and O. F. Strobridge; and Eli Johl, a native of Germany, on testimony of G. H. Bump and L. Lavin; and on Thursday he admitted Wm. Gordon, a native of Nova Scotia, on the testimony of G. H. Bump and O. H. Kister. We presume they will all vote for Harrison and Protection.

THE weather having settled, our farmers have commenced haying.

CLOUD BURSTS.—On Saturday last a cloud burst occurred on the Summit of the Sonora road, sending a fearful amount of water down the grade, which was badly damaged, so that teams could not pass either side of the Summit. Supervisor Fales, who has charge of the road, has been working with several others getting the road in order again, and on Wednesday some fruit teams came over.

A cloud burst occurred at the head of Sawyer Canyon, west of Antelope Valley, at the same time, occasioning much damage to Kirman & Rickey's large ditches in Antelope Valley. It will take some $3,000 to repair damages.

A cloud burst above Mormon Ranch on Sunday last destroyed most, if not all, of the hay crop on the ranch.

MORE CANDIDATES.—Under "New To-day," on this page, will be found announcements of James E. Goodall, for Superior Judge, and John D. Murphey for the Assembly, both subject to the decision of the Republican Primaries on September 8th. Supervisor Hector also announces himself as a candidate for the Assembly.

THANKS.—We acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Cincinnati Centennial Exposition now open, and regret we cannot avail ourselves of the privileges it confers, but our Cincinnati friends forgot to send a "free pass" over the railroads to allow us to attend and give tone to the enterprise.

REGISTER.—County Clerk Kister has appointed the following Deputies for registering voters: Antelope, D. N. Barnett and C. F. Rickey; Benton, Dr. M. Griswold; Bodie, Phil. Kuhlman and A. Lazard; Lundy, Jacob Weaver.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. J. Whittaker will hold services at the School House on Sunday, August 5th, at 11 o'clock. All are cordially invited to attend.

A GOOD SNOW.—The total eclipse of the moon on Sunday night last was a good one, the affair passing off according to the published program.

SALISBURY, of Bodie, has a double-column ad. on our second page. Read it.

Ex-Congressman Barclay Henley, of the First District, a life-long Democrat, has renounced Democracy and will vote for Harrison and Morton and Protection to American Industries. He does not approve of the Free-Trade principles of the Democratic party. This is a bad blow to the Democracy, and it will be interesting reading to read what the Democratic press of this Coast has to say of him, and compare their present sayings with those of a few years ago.

ELLIOTT CONVICTED.—W. T. C. Elliott, who murdered John B. White last Spring in Inyo county, has been convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. The Inyo Index says the verdict gives general satisfaction.

At the Anti-Chinese Mass meeting held in San Francisco on Wednesday evening, Congress was memorialized to impeach Judges Sabin and Sawyer. These Judges are making themselves obnoxious to the people of the Pacific Coast.

Mills proposes to go to New Jersey to show its people how his Tariff bill will benefit them. It will be apparent to him after the 6th of November that they have not been able to "see it."

The Chicago Grand Jury indicted four Anarchists for conspiracy to commit murder. Those scoundrels should be railroaded to the gallows. Their failure makes them none the less murderers.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has decided that the Standard Oil Company must have no greater transportation facilities in the matter of freights than other oil companies.

At the races in the East, a Chicago telegram says, Baldwin scooped $31,567, and Haggin $7,200, the Californians capturing the lion's share of the spoils.

Any one knowing of Samuel Wilcox, who came to California in 1851, will confer a favor by writing to Isaac N. Reese, Logansport, Indiana.

Congressman Mills acknowledges that his course on the Tariff has raised a strong opposition in his District.

BOUND TO GO.—Salisbury has a choice lot of shoes for sale at cost.

The President has gone yachting—getting his hand in for a trip up Salt River.

GENTS' fine calf boots and shoes at Salisbury's, cheap.

LADIES, when you go to Bodie, call on Salisbury and get your dress goods at cost.

MUST GO. CAN'T HELP IT.—Selling goods at cost. Salisbury will give all a fair show.

Two Ways. Choose Which!

There are two usual ways of doing what Nature sometimes does incompletely, namely, to relieve the bowels. One is to swallow a drastic purgative which evacuates profusely, abruptly and with pain, the other is to take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the effect of which is not violent, but sufficiently thorough, and which does not gripe the intestines. If the first is selected, the person employing it need not expect permanent benefit, and he cannot hope to escape the debilitating reaction which leaves the organs as bad or worse off than before. If, on the other hand, he resorts to the Bitters, he can rely upon the restoration of a regular habit of body, consequent upon a renewal of a healthful tone in the intestinal canal. Besides healthfully relaxing the bowels, the Bitters arouse a dormant liver, imparts a beneficial impetus to the action of the kidneys, and counteracts the early twinges of rheumatism, a tendency to gout, and malaria in all its forms.

Blaine and family will return to this country on the new steamer City of New York, of the Inman line, the largest steamer afloat, being 14 feet longer than the City of Rome. Her engines are wonderfully powerful and it is thought she will make the passage in a little over six days. Blaine's stateroom is magnificently decorated.

W. T. Coleman & Co. offer to settle with their creditors on a basis of 40 cents on the dollar, ten cents cash and ten cents every year until the 40 cents are paid. They owe $2,500,000, and can pay about $1,000,000.

Blaine has arranged to speak in New York and Connecticut, but it is doubtful about his coming as far West as Bridgeport. He knows that Mono county is all right, and as Mono goes, so goes the Union.

A San Francisco gentleman, who is sick and will not let his name be divulged at present, has given $5,000 each to six Presbyterian Churches, five being in San Francisco.

Congressman W. L. Scott, the great free-trader, of Pennsylvania, is worth over $10,000,000. Well, well! Then all rich monopolists are not Republicans?

Some of the best dressed gentlemen of Mono county are indebted to Silas B. Smith, of Bodie, for their stylish appearance. He has the agency for some of the finest tailoring establishments in the East. His samples for the Spring and Summer are unsurpassed. He displays over 2,000 different patterns of cloth. His experience with the tape line for many years insures a good fit every time. When in Bodie call on him and inspect the goods.

FARMER ENO ON CHURCH SINGIN

I've been a listnin' to the birds
An' hummin' of the bees,
A blendin' in the chorus of
The wind among the trees.
The world seemed like a meetin' house,
The congregation there,
All jinin' in the joyful hymns
That 'peared to fill the air.

The Lord's ole-fashioned meetin' house,
Ole-fashioned hymns of praise,
The world has sung an' sung unchanged,
Since them creation days.
No bang and bustle worship there,
Got up for show and hire;
But everything that had a voice
Was in Jehovah's choir.

I wish they'd quit the proxy plan,
Where you an' me belong,
An' take the Lord's ole-fashioned way
Of worshippin' in song.
Let everybody with a voice,
In pulpit and in pews,
Just shout the glory in his heart,
An' swell the hallelews.

RAISING QUAIL.

Hints from Practical Experience in Stocking Game Grounds.

Some years ago I brought from North Carolina to New Jersey some fifteen or twenty pairs of quail to put out on my own place. I kept them in my barn from February to the middle of April, feeding them on split peas, their favorite food in North Carolina, and giving them free access to water.

I found they became very tame, and when they were turned out in April they continued to remain for some time in the vicinity of the barn.

The place was very favorably situated for stocking, a stream running along the edge of a wood, with cultivated land on one side, at intervals patches of good woodcock grounds and two or three dry bottoms of old mill dams overgrown with alders and raspberries.

I had food scattered in various places for them until they paired. The most of them raised breeds, but they continued to be much tamer than the native quail, and as a consequence were nearly all shot the first season, some of them before the law was up, by outside parties, no attention being paid to the fact that the land was posted.

From my observation I would say peas constitute good food for quail. Patches of peas and buckwheat should be sown in sheltered places on the grounds where birds are turned out. When these are fairly started it is a good plan to scatter light branches and bramble over them, so as to furnish shelter from hawks while the birds are feeding. Thick patches of bramble furnish the best shelter.

There should be turned out as early as possible an equal number of cocks and hens. It is said that unmated cocks break up the nests and destroy the eggs of the mates they could not win.

The birds should not be on hand long enough to become familiar with man and so become tame and dependent. If they become so—and they can be made as chickens—some method should be used to make them wild before they are shot.—Forest and Stream.

RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

The Philosopher at a Tavern—A Bar-Keeper's Estimate of the Right Drink for Him.

Henry Wilson used to tell a good story about Ralph Waldo Emerson's attempt to "live like other folks."

Stopping while on his fit was on him at a country tavern where he was to lecture, instead of retiring to meditate and freeze in his own cold and cheerless room, he manfully sat in the barroom like the rest of mankind.

He endured the tobacco smoke as well as he could, and watched, no doubt with a curiosity as lively as M. du Chaillu's on his first visit to a cannibal feast among the Fans, the actions of the men who "sat around." He saw one after another walk up to the bar and demand and swallow a glass of whiskey; and, true to his determination to be for once like other men, the great philosopher—so the tale goes on—at last rose, and no doubt with a certain degree of diffidence, but no doubt also with a sufficiency of courage in his port and countenance, advanced to the bar, and in a voice modulated as nearly as he could after those he had just heard, demanded a "whiskey skin."

The barkeeper, a man of high principle, looked into the philosopher's face for a moment, and then said: "You do not want whiskey, you want ginger-pop;" and accordingly administered that mild and harmless stimulant.

THE CZAR'S PALACES.

Information from St. Petersburg—Historic Reminiscences.

Of course, in St. Petersburg one must see everything connected with Peter the Great, even to the skeleton of his valet, which has been preserved.

The cathedral which the great monarch founded is known as the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul. Its spire is surmounted by a cross that glitters in the sunlight 371 feet above the street—10 feet higher than St. Paul's in London.

Here all the dead sovereigns of Russia, with the sole exception of Peter II, are buried; many of them noted for such barbarous cruelty as one shudders to read of. Even the great Peter had his oldest son put to torture under examination for treason—a torture so severe that its victim soon after died from the effects of it.

At the distance of a short drive from St. Petersburg is a charming miniature palace, owned by the Empress, and known by the name of "My Own." It is in the midst of lovely grounds, and is a happy retiring place for the royal family whenever they choose to come to it.

In another palace, the Peterhof, there are in a single room over 600 female portraits taken by the order of Catherine II, from women in different provinces of the Empire.—St. Petersburg Letter.

His Home Thrust.

"I see a buttonless shirt advertised here, John," said a wife, looking up from a paper; "what kind of a shirt is that?"

"The kind I wear," was the reply. And the wife resumed her reading.

Anti-Marriage Insurance Wanted.

"What a labor-saving invention the typewriter is! Do you find it a great convenience?"

"Convenience? Drat 'em! They marry off faster than I can fill their places."

According to the Circumstances.

Miss Clara—(Out shopping)—"How awfully the wind blows, Ethel!"

Miss Ethel—"Doesn't it! If I had known there was such a gale, I would have——"

Miss Clara—"Remained at home?"

Miss Ethel—"No, put on my striped stockings."

MEDICAL.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp pains, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Disease, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and thus the great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.
